LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

9 One of my funniest dental memories was when I mistakenly thought a dental drill was used to drill nerves. About four years ago, my dentist mentioned utilising a drill. I was confused, thinking it was for my nerves. I asked, "Is this for my gums?" The dentist laughed and explained it was for cavities.

Repercussions of Israel's UNRWA ban

Israel's decision to ban UN relief agency UNRWA is very concerning and requires more attention.

For nearly 80 years, UNRWA has assisted numerous Palestinian refugees by offering education, healthcare and food. It plays a crucial role in regions like Gaza, the West Bank and East Jerusalem, where many families rely on its support for survival.

Ceasing UNRWA's operations will further exacerbate the challenges faced by these communities.

The repercussions of this ban extend beyond basic needs. By shutting down UNRWA, Israel risks exacerbating issues in the region.

UNRWA provides food, shelter and employment opportunities to thousands of Palestinians. Without UNRWA, Israel may need to assume the responsibility of aiding these refugees, potentially straining its resources and affecting its relationships with other nations.

Numerous countries, including the United States and several European nations, are apprehensive about this decision. They recognise the significance of UNRWA in sustaining hope among refugees. Without its assistance, the situation could deteriorate, escalating conflict and tension as millions lose access to essential services.

Israel should contemplate dialogue and negotiation rather than resorting to such a drastic measure. While expressing concerns about UNRWA's alleged ties to Hamas and anti-Israel activities, which UNRWA has refuted, they have been engaged in investigating any issues. A collaborative approach with international support could ensure accountability while continuing to provide vital services to refugees.

This decision could also affect Israel's relations with other countries. UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres has emphasised that UNRWA is "indispensable," and its prohibition could result in a humanitarian catastrophe. Disregarding these alerts might isolate Israel on the global stage and complicate efforts towards lasting peace.

Israel should reconsider its decision and engage in discussions with the international community to find a resolution that addresses its security concerns without harming millions of Palestinians. Constructive dialogue, possibly facilitated by neutral mediators, could enhance UNRWA's operations while preserving essential services.

Decisions of this magnitude are significant and should not be taken lightly. Israel must collaborate with international organisations to address its concerns and prevent further humanitarian and diplomatic challenges. Cooperation and reforms could pave the way for a more secure future for both Israelis and Palestinians.

I urge all parties to prioritise humanitarian requirements and promptly resolve this crisis. The well-being of millions hinges on this resolution.
